- The Trauma System Approach to Mass Casualty Events: Best Practices and Evidence

Mass Gathering Medicine:

Also known as Event Medicine, Crowd Medicine or Mass Gathering Health, this is a field of medicine that explores the health effects / risks of mass gatherings and the strategies that can positively contribute to the effective delivery of health services during these events. The reason for the development of this field of medicine is because mass gatherings generate a higher incidence of injury and illness or may be the subject of a catastrophic accident or attack resulting in a large number of people who are injured or dead.

Key reasons for Mass Gathering Medical Services at an event are:

- Rapid access to the injured or ill patients
- Effective stabilizing and transporting injured or ill patients
- On-site care for minor injuries and illnesses

Given the growth in the area of Mass Gathering Medicine, there is a need for consistency in the research and evaluation of mass gathering events. This is important because mass gatherings may impact on health services and having a collective understanding of the impact of mass gatherings on health services may mitigate any poor outcomes for patients.

Health services are generally designed to meet routine priorities and demands and have limited capacity to expand. MGs can therefore place a strain on the local healthcare system. Even the most prepared of events may experience a disaster which can overwhelm local healthcare systems and their ability to provide an adequate emergency response. However, MGs also present opportunities for long-lasting positive effects such as stronger public health systems after the event, improved global health security, or keeping residents and visitors better informed about how they can protect themselves from certain diseases.

Purpose of the conference:

Qatar Health 2020 is a collaborative effort between Hamad Medical Corporation and the Ministry of Public Health in preparation for the FIFA World Cup 2022. It will be hosted in Qatar from 16 to 18 January 2020.

Qatar Health 2020 will offer experts from the national, regional and international health sector, World Health Organization and other international organizations involved in mass gatherings as well as previous host countries (Russia, Brazil, UK (London), academic institutions, healthcare leaders, disaster managers, global experts and government bodies, a unique opportunity to learn about mass gatherings. Delegates will be able to share experiences, learnings and best practice as well as advances in mass gathering preparedness and planning as we prepare for the FIFA World Cup in Qatar in 2022.

The aim of this international conference is to provide the guiding principles for pre-planned mass gathering events; building relationships and sharing best practice in public health, security and crowd management.

Objectives of the conference:

- Identify gaps and challenges in preparedness for and the management of MGs, between sectors and across levels (local, national, international).
- Gather learnings and best practice for better preparedness and response in support of mass gatherings.
- Foster multi-sector and multi-disciplinary collaboration between relevant stakeholders and find opportunities to enhance mass gathering preparedness.
